

Macomb County Quilt Guild Members:

I'm offering two Spring classes that your membership might be interested in, one in March and the other at the end of April.

Fabri BOWling — Saturday, March 24th

Learn how to rotary cut bias strips of fabric, wrap them quickly around clothesline, and zigzag them into fabulous fabric bowls. My Fabric BOWling workshop is offered in my @Home studio here in Flint. This is a 6 hour class in a dog-present environment. It's also the premier of my new Clothesline PowerWrapper. For more information, and to sign up, see: <http://www.amisimms.com/amathocl.html>

String Star — April 23- May 12

Learn how to make a String Star quilt using my tube method. It's fast, fun, and easy. The class is offered online in my "virtual" classroom from April 23 to May 12. Receive six lessons from April 23 to April 28th, one day at a time. Work at your own pace. Do one lesson a day, or save them up and do them all at once. The choice is yours. You have my nearly undivided attention from April 23 until May 2 so you can ask questions, make comments, email pictures, and share your progress with me and your fellow students. Lessons remain online until May 12th, but without me. This is a stash-buster quilt for confident beginners and intermediate quilters. It perfect for quilters who just can't drop everything for a 6-hour class, hate hauling their machines around, or who couldn't otherwise take a class with me in person. Read comments from the first online class and sign up here: <http://www.amisimms.com/stringstar.html>
